

Atos named a Leader in Digital Manufacturing Services by Global Analyst firm NelsonHall

Paris, April 2, 2020 - Atos, a global leader in digital transformation, today announced it has been positioned as a leader in Digital Manufacturing Services by global analyst firm NelsonHall in its latest Vendor Evaluation & Assessment Tool (NEAT).

The report highlights Atos' strong vertical approach, which enables the company to offer a broad range of domain-specific Digital Manufacturing Services designed to help clients tackle both today's and tomorrow's challenges, from IoT to digital manufacturing, including analytics and AI.

The NelsonHall NEAT vendor evaluation study assesses 9 of the most significant service providers delivering digital manufacturing services based on their ability to meet future client requirements and deliver immediate benefit. Atos was positioned as a leader in the 'Build Capacity' category.

Dominique Raviart, IT Services Research Director at NelsonHall, said "Atos is leveraging long-term strategic partners such as Siemens and other global leaders in manufacturing to provide digital manufacturing services backed by IP and software solutions, and accelerating time-to-deployment. The company is complementing this approach by a consulting-led engagement model that helps its clients navigate the opportunities and challenges specific to digital manufacturing".*

Elaborating on Atos' ranking, Eric Grall, Head of Manufacturing at Atos said: "The rapid digitization of channels and interfaces along with shifting customer expectations towards more transparency and personalisation is encouraging the emergence of new players and setting new standards for the industry. Agile, customer and data-driven operations will be the key for our customers' success, and Atos' mission is to work with them in driving a shift to a sustainable and digital manufacturing."
