

Atos to support Willis Towers Watson's cloud and digital workplace modernization

Irving, Texas and Paris, France, September 10, 2020 – Atos, a global leader in digital transformation, today announces a multi-year partnership with Willis Towers Watson (WTW), a leading global advisory, broking and solutions company.

Atos will support Willis Towers Watson in its digital transformation, including enhancements to the business experiences by moving on-premise infrastructure to the cloud, retiring legacy hardware and software, and shifting to a consumption-based model. In addition, Atos will help reimagine the end-user experience through the use of chatbots, digital lockers and virtual technology bars to help reduce failures and increase automation.

*"Atos is strongly committed to enable Willis Towers Watson's clear vision for accelerating cloud adoption and enhancing the employee experience. Atos' solution is aimed at a future-focused IT environment to support optimization and growth priorities while generating operational efficiencies and infrastructure cost savings for reinvestment in Willis Towers Watson's transformation journey," said Michael Carter, Senior Vice President, Atos North America.

Atos has an established relationship with Willis Towers Watson where Atos|Syntel has provided support for infrastructure, workplace, cross-functional, platform and data management, enterprise command center, voice and data network, global security and governance services. This relationship allows Atos' new services to build on deep Willis Towers Watson experience, knowing their diverse business and its evolving demands.
