“Before the COVID-19 pandemic hit, PruittHealth was struggling through a Workforce Dimensions pilot that was not realizing the value put forth in the business case. ATOS was brought in to resolve issues with our existing configuration, implement enhancements to increase the system’s value, and provide the resources and expertise to train our entire organization. When the pandemic hit, a rollout that was going to be in-person had to be adapted into a virtual training and implementation plan. ATOS stepped up to the challenge, partnered with PruittHealth subject matter experts, and delivered a virtual implementation that encompassed over 10,000 employees and over 100 physical locations in just over four months”
