

Atos ranked as a Leader in ISG's report Mainframes – Services and Solutions in Europe

Paris, France – December 5, 2024 – Atos today announces it has been named a leader in ISG's Provider Lens™ Mainframes – Services and Solutions, Europe. Atos is a Leader in two quadrants: Mainframe as a Service (MFaaS) and Mainframe Operations. According to ISG, Leaders have a comprehensive product and service offering, a strong market presence and established competitive position. They also represent innovative strength and competitive stability.

ISG emphasizes the enduring significance of mainframes in business infrastructure in a market that is moving toward hybrid modernization strategies, with clients aiming to maintain mainframe robustness while leveraging cloud agility.

In the Mainframe as a Service (MFaaS) quadrant, ISG assesses the current market positioning of providers of MFaaS in Europe based on the depth of their market presence and service offerings. The quadrant assesses Atos' capabilities in offering shared mainframe services, including facilities, hardware, operating systems, optimization tools and maintenance expertise.

In the Mainframe Operations quadrant, ISG assesses service providers that offer on-premises or remote operations services for mainframes, including performance optimization, backup, restore, system upgrades, security patches and other typical mainframe capabilities.

Oliver Nickels, Lead Author, ISG said: "As a Mainframe as a Service provider, Atos combines over 45 years of experience focusing on business transformation and tailored, secure MFaaS solutions, fostering innovation while ensuring operational stability. Atos excels in mainframe operations with a comprehensive service portfolio, combining MFaaS and hybrid IT strategies for modernization, offering client-centric solutions and ensuring financial predictability."

Zoltán Zerényi, Global Head of Mainframe, Atos said: "Being positioned as a European Leader by ISG testifies to our capacity to reliably and cost-effectively run and manage mainframe applications in a modern hybrid world. Atos offers flexible pricing models on mainframe hubs that are constantly enhanced with innovations to optimize, secure and increase integration options with other IT components. The Atos Group's businesses provide a complete suite of offerings, ranging from mainframe operations and mainframe as a service to mainframe modernization, including mainframe to cloud, application modernization and transformation services. We also support clients in defining and implementing the best strategy for their mainframe transformation."
