

Atos Recognized as Best In Class in IT/OT Cybersecurity Services in 2025 by PAC Innovation Radar France

Paris, France – January 28, 2026 – Atos, a global leader of AI-powered digital transformation, today announces its recognition as a Best-In-Class in the PAC Innovation Radar for IT/OT Cybersecurity Services France 2025. PAC highlights Atos' strong market position and the breadth of its OT security services, which include auditing, consulting, field operations, and managed services. The report also emphasizes Atos' international capacity and deep-rooted OT expertise, supported by dedicated OT Security Operations Centers, a vulnerability operations center, and qualified field teams. Atos' recognized OT certifications, combined with proprietary IT cybersecurity threat intelligence feeds and 6,500 cybersecurity professionals, further reinforce its leadership in securing critical infrastructures.

Eric Damage, lead analyst cybersecurity, PAC, said: "Atos presents one of the most advanced and robust sovereign postures. From authentication to threat detection, from risk assessments consulting to AI & Post-Quantum Cryptography advanced features, Atos owns, operates, and secures its intellectual property."

Farah Rigal, Head of cybersecurity France, Atos, said: "As OT and critical infrastructures become increasingly software defined, security must protect industrial processes and IT seamlessly. Atos supports this shift through converged IT/OT architectures, strong network segmentation, identity-driven controls, backed by a global SOC able to operate within industrial constraints. Through Eviden, our cyber product brand, we also bring the cryptographic and digital identity foundations required to safeguard telemetry and authenticate connected assets. This enables our clients to strengthen operational resilience and compliance—without slowing innovation or disrupting production and field operations."

PAC is the leading European consulting and analyst firm supporting software & IT service vendors worldwide. PAC provides market research and analysis in more than 30 countries worldwide, delivered through its SITSi® research platform.
